The Man Behind the Bow Tie Arthur Porter on Business, Politics and Intrigue

Arthur Porter and T. R. Todd

A revealing memoir of a fascinating and controversial medical doctor and the former spy watchdog of CSIS

How does it feel to be deemed guilty before trial? To be held in a cutthroat Panamanian prison while suffering from terminal lung cancer? How does it feel to rise to the top of the medical and public arenas in your adopted country, only to crash miserably to earth under allegations of fraud and money-laundering?

In short: What is it like to be Dr. Arthur Porter?

There are few contemporary figures in Canada more intriguing and controversial than the former spy watchdog of the Canadian Security Intelligence Service. A physician by trade, Porter, always in his iconic bow tie, has been described as intelligent, charismatic and relentless in his ambitions. Others have called him deceitful, manipulative and unscrupulous.

Miracle at the Forks The Museum that Dares Make a Difference

Peter C. Newman and Allan Levine

"The engaging story of the making of Canada's fifth national museum - a beautifully designed homage to Izzy Asper's dream of making a difference"

It was on July 18, 2000 that Israel (Izzy) Asper, the renowned Canadian businessman and philanthropist, first discussed his idea of building a human rights centre in Winnipeg. He wanted to build a museum that would make a difference; that would help educate visitors to the museum about human rights issues, all with the aim of making the world a better, more humane place. He shared this vision with Moses (Moe) Levy, the Executive Director of the Asper Foundation, and gave Levy the mandate to make the museum happen.

Miracle at the Forks recounts the fourteen-year ordeal of making Izzy Asper's dream a reality. It recounts the financial and political challenges of building a world class museum in Winnipeg, an objective that was made all the more difficult by Asper's death not six months after the public unveiling of plans for a national museum at The Forks on April 17, 2003.

Harold Town

Iris Nowell

The extraordinary life and art of one of Canada's most exciting painters

A dazzling painter and master draftsman, Harold Barling Town (1924-1990) became known as "the Picasso of Canada." Town started drawing as a three-year-old and never stopped; his oeuvre over forty years totals more than ten thousand works —paintings, collages, works on paper, lithographs, assemblages, sculptures and murals. A member of Painters Eleven, the artists who introduced Abstract Expressionism to Canada in 1953, Town gained his first international recognition for his technically inventive Single Autographic Prints shown at the 1956 Venice Biennale. Alfred Barr, director of the Museum of Modern Art, called Town one of the world's greatest printmakers.

Also a stylish writer and erudite critic, Town experimented in countless drawing and painting themes, to the extent that his solo shows looked like group exhibitions. His bold, majestic paintings are as powerful as his refined pencil drawings. Just months before his death in 1990 he created a suite of portraits of jazz musicians, as accomplished as an artist at the height of his talent.

The West Coast Modern House Vancouver Residential Architecture

edited by Greg Bellerby

A landmark study of one of Canada's most important architectural movements

The West Coast Modern House chronicles the development of Vancouver residential architecture from the 1940's through its continued influence on contemporary practice. The post-war era in Vancouver defined what has become popularly known as the 'West Coast Style'. Through the work of seminal figures such as BC Binning, Ned Pratt, Ron Thom, Fred Hollingsworth, Douglas Simpson, Barry Downs and Arthur Erickson, Vancouver architects won national awards and international recognition for their innovative house designs. This period is now seen as one of the most important in the city's architectural history. Focusing on the years from 1940 to the mid-1960's, The West Coast Modern House features over fifty examples of modern houses.

The book is richly illustrated by photographs taken at the time by noted architectural photographers Graham Warrington, Selwyn Pullan and John Fulker.

Yukon Sport An Illustrated History

John Firth

A lively and beautifully designed celebration of sport in the Yukon

Sport is a cornerstone of community building. It connects people and enables new arrivals to fit in, qualities valuable in regions where populations are far-flung and the climate and landscape offer dangerous challenges and irresistible enticements. Sport in the Yukon has a long and colourful history, beginning with the games played by the territory's First Peoples. In this entertaining, fact-filled compendium, author John Firth celebrates the impressive scope of sport in the Yukon, along with the adventurous spirit of the many people who participate.

The Yukon's first recorded sporting event was a snow-shovelling contest at Forty Mile in 1882. For centuries before that, the territory's Aboriginal people played competitive games that brought communities together and taught key survival skills. Today, Dene games like the snow snake, the stick pull, and the finger pull continue under the umbrella of the Arctic Winter Games. Yukon residents enjoy skiing, skating, and other snow sports, along with sports that take advantage of the territory's mountains and its many lakes and rivers.

A Discerning Eye

The Walter C. Koerner collection of European ceramics

Carol E. Mayer

Like the ceramics he collected throughout his life, Walter C. Koerner was a survivor of turbulent times. Born in Moravia in 1889, Koerner fled his homeland shortly before the Nazi occupation of Czechoslovakia. After immigrating to Canada and settling in B.C., he prospered in business and became one of the University of British Columbia's most significant benefactors.

Today, the gallery in the Museum of Anthropology that bears Koerner's name is home to one of the most exquisite collections of European ceramics in North America. The Koerner Ceramics Gallery is a testament to elegance, craftsmanship, and the beauty of everyday objects. Yet it is also a reflection of the complex socio-political forces at work throughout four centuries of European history.

A lavish celebration of this impressive collection, Koerner Ceramics highlights approximately two hundred functional and decorative wares from the sixteenth to the nineteenth century.

Kim Dorland

Robert Enright

Featuring more than 100 full-colour reproductions, as well as studio and installation photographs, Kim Dorland examines the entirety of Dorland's groundbreaking career. Context is provided in essays by the McMichael Gallery's Katarina Atanassova - curator of the critically acclaimed exhibit You Are Here: Kim Dorland and the Return to Painting - and Jeffrey Spalding, artistic director of the Museum of Contemporary Art Calgary, which will be exhibiting Dorland's work in October 2014. In addition, acclaimed art critic and broadcaster Robert Enright engages Dorland in an illuminating discussion about his life, influences, process, and work. Visually stunning, intellectually intriguing, and artistically bold, Kim Dorland is a welcome and timely addition to the discussion of contemporary Canadian art and painting's place in it - its possibilities, its subtleties, its problematic history, and its overt material beauty.
