Welcome to the Garden of Wonder, a botanical wonderland where curiosity flourishes along with the flora and fauna.

Jerome the Gnome takes readers on whimsical adventures through his garden, celebrating discovery and sowing the imagination as he introduces such topics as science, environmental awareness, and agriculture.

In How to Grow Happiness, Jerome and his fellow Garden of Wonder dwellers—including Oakie, his pet acorn, Nutilda, a hyperactive squirrel, and Warble, a fast-talking bird—learn what it takes to make a happiness seed blossom. Through patience, asking for and receiving guidance, and team work, Jerome and his friends take the little black seed left on the window sill, and find ways to help it grow into its own, and they soon find that as it flourishes, so too does their own happiness.

Kelly DiPucchio is the award-winning author of several children's books, including New York Times bestseller, GRACE FOR PRESIDENT, and THE SANDWICH SWAP, a book co-authored for Her Majesty Queen Rania Al Abdullah of Jordan, which President Bill Clinton called "a delightful story." Kelly has been a featured author/speaker at numerous schools, public libraries, universities, and conferences. Visit www.kellydipucchio.com.

Prepare your wings and listen closely: the wild fairies are now in bloom and popping up in a forest near you!

Spring is in the air in Sugar Oak! Green buds grow on the trees, the temperature's warm, and all of the fairies' animal friends have come out play. But before the fairies can smell the flowers and soak in the sun, they must plan the biggest party of the year—the Blossom Bash! Normally, Daisy would LOVE leading her fairy friends, but when each of the fairies has a different vision for the bash's decorations, she's left stumped. Daisy has a difficult decision to make, and with first bloom right around the corner, she better decide fast.

Infused with ecology and botany, the wild fairies' whimsical adventures will inspire in kids a sense of wonder and curiosity for nature, as well as inform them about the wildflowers and critters behind the fairies through young-reader friendly nonfiction back matter.

Brandi Dougherty is the author of the New York Times best-selling picture book The Littlest Pilgrim along with six other Littlest tales. She's also written three middle grade novels, a Pixar picture book, and four books in Giada de Laurentiis's Recipe for Adventure series. She lives in Los Angeles where she wrangles two adorable kids and one crazy dog with her husband, Joe. Visit www.brandidougherty.com.

Renée Kurilla has illustrated many books for kids, including Orangutanka, by Margarita Engle and The Pickwicks' Picnic, by Carol Brendler. She lives in the woods just south of Boston; the perfect place to search for wild fairies!

Prepare your wings and listen closely: the wild fairies are now in bloom and popping up in a forest near you!

Lily's Water Woes follows wild fairy (and mermaid) Lily, who is feeling left out. While her fairy friends get to travel to beautiful beaches and lush forests, Lily is always stuck at home, unable to be away from the water for very long. Her froggy pal, Splash, tries his best to cheer her up, but Lily still wishes she could stay out late and play like the other fairies. Wanting to help their friend, the fairies come together to build an awesome surprise for Lily that just might make it easier for her to travel beyond her small pond.

Infused with ecology and botany, the wild fairies' whimsical adventures will inspire in kids a sense of wonder and curiosity for nature, as well as inform them about the wildflowers and critters behind the fairies through young-reader friendly nonfiction back matter.

Mrs. Peanuckle takes to the skies and shares all about her favorite birds in her latest tour of the ABCs

Bright colors and energetic illustrations pop off the pages of the Mrs. Peanuckle's Alphabet series, which invites our youngest readers to discover the vegetables and fruits (Fall 2017) and the flowers and bugs (Winter 2018) of the natural world.

From the albatross to the zebra finch, Mrs. Peanuckle pulls out her binoculars and introduces toddlers to 26 species of birds from all around the globe. Described by a single interesting fact or defining characteristic, each bird proves to be as unique and surprising as the one before. Ever wonder why flamingoes are pink? It's all those shrimp they eat. Are there birds that can fly backward? Yes, but hummingbirds are the only ones! With bold, colorful pages, strong graphic art, and exciting design, these birds are certain to be remembered.

MRS. PEANUCKLE loves to write, talk to animals and birds, and putter in her garden. She has a vast assortment of children and grandchildren (some of them pets and some of them imaginary). When she is not traveling and exploring the universe, you can find her cooking and eating while singing in her magical cabin in the woods.

JESSIE FORD's graphic shapes, bold color palette, hand-drawn typography, and textured layers create a handmade effect that has been commissioned by clients such as Abrams, Volkswagen, Samsonite, Unilever, and Westin Hotels. She lives near the sea in Brighton with her boyfriend, Emile, and their giant ginger cat, Hal. Visit www.sugarsnapstudio.co.uk.

What better time than spring for Mrs. Peanuckle to introduce fledgling letter learners to the ABCs through flowers and trees!

Whether they're short or tall, pruny or smooth, full of berries or flowers or nuts, the 26 types of trees in this alphabet primer are sure to delight and surprise the youngest of readers (and their parents). After all, trees do more for us than sway in the wind. Did you know incense Cedars are perfect for making pencils? (So we can practice writing our ABCs.) Or that Katsura trees are great for climbing? (So we can discover more about trees!)

With playful text, bright illustrations, and pages as strong as an oak, Mrs. Peanuckle's Tree Alphabet will engage toddlers and take them on an alphabet adventure through the natural world.

Professor Sage is holding a contest between the young Bloomers! where each must choose their favorite vegetable to grow and care for, and Big Red knows exactly what he wants to grow: tomatoes! After all, they are the main ingredient in some of his favorite foods: spaghetti, ketchup, and pizza. But as he starts planting, he discovers that he'll have to battle hornworms to keep his tomatoes healthy and safe.

Rodale's Bloomers picture books take young readers and listeners to Bloomers Island to experience the world of plants, flowers, and gardens. Through the lively stories and lush illustrations, a child need only to grab a book from her shelf or from his nightstand to step into the Bloomers world whenever she or he wishes.

Professor Sage is holding a contest between the young Bloomers! where each must choose their favorite vegetable to grow and care for. Violet loves purple, so of course she chooses to grow eggplants, and decides to make paintings of them to track their progress. But she runs into a problem —there's no more purple paint! But she quickly learns that she can gather blackberries to make her own purple paint, and she ends up being able to paint her vegetables after all.

A powerful, simple story about what it really means to be smart

When his teacher announces that there will be a science fair in a few weeks, the young boy in I Am Smart is worried. He doesn't like science. Science is hard! But when his mom tells him to "look for the science in your life," he knows just what his project will be! By doing research, asking his friends for help, and not giving up, the boy learns that science can be really fun. Now that's smart!

Short on words and long on empowerment, the Positive Power early reader series teaches kids and parents alike the power of positive affirmations and how to incorporate them into their daily lives.

A fun and encouraging early reader about lending a helpful hand

The little girl in I Am Helpful thought that having a baby sister would be fun. But with a different daily routine at home, and her parents constantly distracted by the family's newest member, the little girl has a lot to adjust to. However, by helping her parents, and taking on special jobs, she learns that being a big sister comes with big rewards (though a little spit-up too). Through simple text and joyful illustrations, this final title in the Positive Power series inspires kids to help others while giving them the confidence they need to transform from little to BIG readers.

The Dealing with Feelings series continues with a story about feeling mad—without being bad

In This Makes Me Angry, a young boy is not having a good day. And between the sopping wet towels in the bathroom and his homework that's been colored all over in crayon, he knows just who to blame: his little brother, Jack. The boy's day only gets worse when he leaves Jack and goes to school. Thankfully, his principal knows exactly what will help. By drawing events of the day, the boy is able to slow down and reflect on what made him mad--so that when he returns home, his messy, crayon-covered little brother no longer seems so bad.

The Dealing with Feelings series of early readers are designed to give voice to what's brewing inside. Through short, simple text and repetitive observational phrases, the child will learn to name their emotions as they also learn to read.

A humorous, delightful story that helps kids when they're hit with the sillies

In This Makes Me Silly, a little girl and her brother go with their family to the zoo, only to find that they can't stop laughing! Between making funny monkey faces and stretching their arms for elephant trucks, it's no wonder they snort out their milk at lunch. The little girl doesn't see any harm in her silliness at first, but when she scares an animal by shouting and banging on the glass, she learns that there's a time and place to be silly (like at the zoo playground), and a time and place to be calm (when animals are sleeping).

The Dealing with Feelings series of early readers are designed to give voice to what's brewing inside. Through short, simple text and repetitive observational phrases, the child will learn to name their emotions as they also learn to read.

BIG IDEAS combine with BIG NAMES to get kids saying “Aha!”

Kids hear the howl of the wind, or watch a leaf flutter to the ground in fascination, but they don't understand what causes these things to happen. So they ask: Why does the wind sound like a sad dog? Why is it taking that leaf so long to fall?

What's the Big Idea will cover such concepts as gravity, metaphor, and Cubism through the work of individual iconic artists, athletes, scientists, writers, and musicians.

In From Hum to Howl, Duke Ellington teaches onomatopoeia through a single performance with his band. As the band plays on and the crowd roars, readers find that onomatopoeic words are as fun on the tongue as they are on the ears! This book is a great way to introduce picture-book readers to one of America's most innovative composers and musicians and to the power of language.

Suzy Capozzi is a children's book editor and writer. She has worked on titles for both the Random House and Disney early reader programs, in addition to numerous other beginner and leveled readers. She lives in New York's Hudson Valley.

Lydia Nichols is an illustrator and designer, and works as a doodle creator for Google. This is her first children's book.

An adventure-filled chapter book series about a ragtag scout troop tasked with protecting the nation's most endangered monsters

Troop Danger has come a long way from their Troop Dweeb days, but nothing can prepare them for what's next: The Monster Scouts Annual Loch Ness Lock-In!

Once a year, Monster Scout troops from around the world are invited to the International Chapter House Headquarters, an old lighthouse on the shore of the infamous Loch Ness. But when Bessie fails to show up for her annual late-night visit, evidence points to a dastardly plot to kidnap the ancient lake monster and frame Troop D! Can the Monster Scouts' newest troop rescue, Bessie, clear their names and help them earn their badges before it's too late?

First-ever branded children's book partnership with the NFL's Pro Football Hall of Fame, using their name and mark. There are 300 members, ranging from the long retired to currently active. Many have never been the subject of a youth biography. Rodale will have access to the HOF/NFL's resources, which includes their extensive photo archives.

Inspired by the success of the Game for Life exhibit at the Pro Football Hall of Fame, the series delves into the lives of Pro Football Hall of Famers, and examines how they overcame adversity and accomplished tremendous things. Through poverty, racism, education, athletic/physical limitations, injury, being underestimated, etc., each Hall of Famer serves as an example of inspiration and motivation.

John Madden will focus on the iconic coach, broadcaster, and face of the long-running Madden NFL video game series. Madden led the Oakland Raiders to their first Super Bowl win in 1976 against the Minnesota Vikings. After his retirement from coaching, he became a color commentator and analyst for CBS, Fox, ABC, and NBC, winning 14 Sports Emmy Awards for Outstanding Sports Event Analyst.

PETER RICHMOND is the New York Times bestselling author of 7 books. His work has appeared in The New Yorker, The New York Times Magazine, Rolling Stone, and more, and in the anthology The Best American Sports Writing of the Century. Peter's most recent book, Always a Catch, was a YA novel about a high school football player. He lives in Millerton, NY.

The Pro Football Hall of Fame is the hall of fame for professional football in the United States with an emphasis on the National Football League (NFL). Located in Canton, Ohio, it has 310 members in the Hall of Fame.
