Dot, Stripe, Squiggle

Some creatures have dots. Some have stripes. Some have squiggles. Some creatures have dots and stripes. Some have dots and squiggles. And some have all three—dots, stripes, and squiggles! A simple and striking board book, this innovative introduction to patterns and shapes features nine extraordinary sea creatures (which are identified at the end), bringing the marine world to life.

Sarah Grace Tuttle first fell in love with the ocean on trips to the beach as a child. With a degree in environmental studies and an MFA in writing for children, she is still enthralled by the beauty of the marine world. She lives in Massachusetts.

Miriam Nerlove has spent years painting different animals. She lives with her family outside Chicago. Visits to the Shedd Aquarium helped her study marine animals and their environs. This is her first book for Creative Editions.
Seaside Lullaby

In this gorgeously illustrated lullaby, the cycle of sleep is not unlike the seasons by the sea, from that first sweet falling asleep to the deep, wintry retreat, and then on to spring dreaming and summer awakening. Gentle words evoke images of the seaside, rendered in a soothing palette of marine blues, in this sweetly spun, dreamy bedtime story.

Maria Cristina Pritelli is a self-taught Italian artist who began illustrating children’s books after being inspired by the work of artist Giacinto Gaudenzi. In addition to being published internationally, her work has been selected multiple times for the Illustrators Exhibition at the Bologna Children’s Book Fair. She lives in Gabicce Mare, Italy, with her husband and two children.

You and Me

For older siblings, the introduction of a baby into the family can be a mixed blessing. There is someone new for everyone to dote on, but all of a sudden, everything special about the baby can make older children feel competitive. In this warmly illustrated board book, a poem perfectly encapsulates the balancing act of giving attention to both older and younger siblings, encouraging families to carve out ample “you and me” time for everyone!

A lifelong reader who has long been fascinated with the intricacies of childhood, Rebecca Kai Dotlich grew up in the Midwest. She studied creative writing, art history, and anthropology at Indiana University before raising her family and eventually becoming an award-winning children’s poet and picture book author. She still lives in the Midwest with her husband.

Susan Reagan earned her degree from the Columbus College of Art and Design. With previous experience in greeting cards, surface designs, and picture books, she explored a new style for You and Me. A lifelong Ohio resident, she lives in Cleveland with her husband and two dogs.
The Universe Is a Tree

Trees are teachers, healers, protectors, creators. They keep secrets. They bring peace. This rich anthology of stories, proverbs, and poems about trees from around the world reveals that a tree’s roots not only go down deep into the earth, but its branches also reach up and out into the universe, connecting us all, across time and space. May we peer through the forests of our imaginations to see the beauty and experience the awe that still arches over our world.

A native of Milan, Italy, Laura Filippucci studied illustration at the Istituto Europeo di Design in her hometown and at the School of Visual Arts in New York. In 1992, she received a UNICEF Award at the 25th Illustrators Exhibition of the Bologna Children’s Book Fair. She lives in Milan with her husband, also an illustrator, and their three children.
My Clementine

A loyal captain narrates the story of his beloved ship's extraordinary 50-year life—from the early 1930s, when the refrigerated cargo ship named Clementine was built and launched, to her travels to exotic ports of call around the world, through her service in war and peace, to her eventual resting place at the bottom of the sea. Epic in scope and fine in detail, Roberto Innocenti's illustrations bring the ship and her story to life in this captivating book.

Roberto Innocenti is a self-taught artist who has earned worldwide acclaim with such illustrated books as The House, Rose Blanche, Erika's Story, The Adventures of Pinocchio, and The Girl in Red. In 2008, he was awarded the prestigious Hans Christian Andersen Award for his contributions to children's literature. He lives in Florence, Italy.
Phrases of the Moon

In this ode to the moon, musical text weaves stories people have told for centuries with impressions we all might have had about this enigmatic but constant celestial orb. Enhanced by luminous illustrations, this magnificent picture book collection of original poems, retold myths, and facts about the moon glows with magic and mystery.

J. Patrick Lewis has earned a lofty reputation in children's publishing, having authored more than 95 picture books. From 2011 to 2013, he served as Children's Poet Laureate of the United States. Among his other honors are the 2011 National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) Excellence in Children's Poetry Award and the Ohioana Awards' 2004 Alice Louise Wood Memorial Prize. He lives in Westerville, Ohio.

Vancouver artist Jori van der Linde is a graduate of Emily Carr University of Art and Design. Her self-described “imaginative and whimsical imagery” is at home in children’s books, pattern designs, and advertising pieces alike. This is her second book for Creative Editions.

The Hunter

As a hunter sets out early one morning, he is greeted by the sights and sounds of autumn in the forest. Leaves rustle. A rabbit darts out. Finches fly overhead. When he comes across the deer he has been seeking, the hunter watches. He waits. And then he does something unexpected. Weaving a story of quiet reverence for nature as the artwork imbues the wooded scenes with a lifelike interplay of light and shadow, The Hunter captures the radiance of a perfect fall day.

Jan Wahl has dedicated much of his adult life to writing for children, authoring, among other Creative Editions books, I Met a Dinosaur and The Long Tall Journey. His first children’s title, illustrated by Maurice Sendak, was published in 1964. An Ohio native, Wahl continues to live and work in Toledo.

Tim Jessell studied commercial design and has put his schooling to good use in advertising, industrial, editorial, and publishing applications, winning awards such as the Society of Illustrators’ Gold Medal along the way. An avid falconer, Jessell lives with his family in Oklahoma.
