CANDIS AND ANDY MEREDITH are home restorers, TV personalities, real estate experts, and lovers of all things history. Their work has been featured on HGTV and in major magazines and blogs. They now have their own Facebook Watch channel.

Preserving history
one old house at a time

The Merediths love old houses! They are a husband & wife team for whom “no house is too far gone to be saved.” Their mantra for remodeling is to preserve as much of the original architecture and materials as possible while updating the home for contemporary family living. They reveal updated rooms in their own family home (a work in progress) and others of their projects in Utah. They also feature the photographs of favorite restored houses on the East Coast and tell the stories of families who remodeled and live in them. Special features: six historic East Coast museum houses.

THE HOME BAR
Henry Jeffreys • Foreword by Alexandre Ricard

The Guide to Designing, Equipping and Stocking Your Own Bar

From retro style Art Deco, freestanding bars in the corner of a living room to a statement piece that forms part of the architecture of an entrance or an indoor/outdoor space, The Home Bar includes many different possibilities, from tiny cupboard bars and drinks trolleys to grandiose statements. Styles of bars include drinks trays and bar carts, cupboard and cabinet, urban speakeasy, poolside grandeur, hotel chic, 70s retro, and more.

Tips on how to build up an enviable drinks collection to share and to celebrate with when you have visitors or simply wish to enjoy a discerning drink on a quiet evening at home. Includes more than 30 cocktail recipes from some of the world’s most respected bartenders. With sales of bar carts for the home exploding and the new mantra of “drink less but drink better,” there is no better time for a book about the home bar.

Henry Jeffreys is a respected drinks journalist who writes for the Guardian, The Spectator, Financial Times and his own Henry’s World of Booze blog. He is the author of the bestselling book Empire of Booze.

GRANT K. GIBSON is an interior designer based in San Francisco. His firm works on projects around the country. His work has been featured in many publications including Architectural Digest, the New York Times, Elle Décor, House Beautiful, the Wall Street Journal, Real Simple, and more. He lives in San Francisco.

A Fresh Take on Tradition

Drawing on inspiration from his personal style, world travels, and client experience, Grant K. Gibson takes you on a journey to curate your perfect home. This highly instructional design book covers wall-to-wall, floor to ceiling, in an engaging and comprehensive look at what makes a home both functional and beautiful. Learn the importance of not just decorating with objects, but infusing your living space with items that have meaning in your own life.

Each chapter focuses on a different element of the home: foyer, living room, dining room, kitchen, bedrooms, kids’ rooms, and bathrooms and powder rooms. Discover Grant’s design philosophy—and the questions you should be asking yourself—as it pertains to each respective room. Sidebars with design secrets and decorating tips provide further instruction. Thorough and personable, showcasing photography from Grant’s portfolio, his travels, and vast collection of previously unpublished snapshots taken in the process of his design work, The Curated Home is home décor inspiration at its best.

Combine thoughtfully furnished rooms with your own personal style, for every part of the home
In gorgeous photography and personal story, Courtney Allison reveals her unique vision of French Country Cottage style and tells the story of turning a vintage California vacation cottage into a home for her family. In addition to the main cottage, the property boasts a guest cottage, a multipurpose greenhouse, and several distinct outdoor spaces for relaxing. Courtney shares her decorating and styling tips for employing quintessential elements of French Country Cottage style—palette, patina, chandeliers, mirrors, antiques, flowers, and more. From indoor spaces to natural outdoor areas for entertaining, Courtney is a connoisseur of presenting elegant taste in a relaxed atmosphere. Special features include creative table settings using vintage china and abundant flowers and greenery.

COURTNEY ALLISON is a blogger, stylist, and photographer. In addition to being the editor of Romantic Homes magazine, she also works as a freelance photographer and stylist for magazines and brands.

Timeless, classic houses with a modern twist
The Midcentury Architecture of Rancho Mirage

This book showcases the architecturally innovative homes and communities that sprang up around the historic Thunderbird and Tamarisk Country Club areas from 1950 to 1970, in what is now the city of Rancho Mirage, California. Some of the midcentury’s most distinguished architects, including Welton Becket, William Cody, Richard Harrison, Hugh Kaptur, and William Krisel, designed many of these buildings, many of which are hidden behind country club gates and not easily accessible to the public. This is the first book to focus solely on Rancho Mirage’s rich architectural heritage, and also includes fascinating stories about its influential social history and the rich and famous that called Rancho Mirage home.

Beautiful Varieties for Home and Garden

The dahlia is a fabulous cutting flower. Cut one bloom, and ten more appear on the plant. Blooming from late summer to autumn, dahlias provide explosions of color in home gardens. The author’s commentary unearths the dahlia from its Aztec origins and imparts practical, hands-on knowledge for growing and overwintering these tropical plants in wintry climes. Including classics like Café au Lait and lesser-known varieties like Voodoo and Hootenanny, readers will discover a stunning range of specimens, from tiny pompoms and heavy-headed dinner plates to those that resemble daisies, sea anemones, and even fireworks! Gorgeous photographs of 70 varieties will delight any flower arranger or gardener.

NAOMI SLADE is a journalist and photographer specializing in gardening, environment, and lifestyle. She contributes regularly to a range of British publications, including The English Garden and House and Garden. GEORGIANNA LANE is the photographer of Vintage Roses and Peonies.
Inspiration for a Timeless Celebration That Is Perfectly You

Wedding florals, venue inspiration, cocktail recipes, bouquet recipes, table setting ideas, color pairings, stories and photographs from real weddings, and pro tips for creating your perfect wedding. Includes a thoughtful Q&A to bring a spark to the process—incorporating these questions will encourage couples to personalize each detail.

With fifteen years of planning and designing weddings and celebrations, Nick Valley and Aleah Valley are known as industry leaders who happily share their knowledge and creativity. Their work has been published in Brides Magazine, Sunset Magazine, Better Homes & Gardens, Style Me Pretty, and more.

Shape your wedding into a beautiful occasion that goes beyond the look, to one that shares your story.
A Celebration of the Local Bookstore

The local bookstore, a place of wonder, refuge, and rejuvenation for book lovers the world over. Books & Mortar is a celebration of these literary strongholds. Seventy-five oil paintings capture these storefronts at a moment in time, and pair the artwork with quotations about the joy of reading, the importance of bookstores, and in many cases, anecdotes about the shops and owners themselves.

A delightful gift for an avid reader, an inspiration for any bookstore owner, Books & Mortar is the perfect keepsake for anyone’s personal library.

For several decades, artist and publisher Gibbs M. Smith visited bookstores around the country. Inspired by their unique ambiance of these fine bookstores, he made oil paintings to feature them on the covers of his publishing company’s seasonal catalogs.

A visual feast celebrating the alluring power of bookstores
Turquoise has been mined on six continents and traded throughout the world’s history, including European, Middle East, Chinese, Mayan, Aztec, Inca, and Southwest Native American cultures. It has been set in silver and gold jewelry, cut and shaped into fetish animals, and even formed to represent gods in many religions.

Turquoise’s history and folklore is laced with mystery and colorful legends centered around its alluring mystical qualities. This book represents the arts and traditions of prehistoric, historic, and modern societies. Included are artifacts and collections representing cultures, museums, and individual artists from Egypt, Persia, China, Tibet, Russia, Germany, Italy, Maya, Aztec, Inca, Southwest Native America, the United States, Great Britain, and Australia.

The book is updated with 85 new photographs and up-to-date information about mining activity and locations. Close-up cabochon pictures have been added for many of the famous mines that produce the best colors and matrix.

Joe Dan Lowry is world renowned for his knowledge about turquoise and is sought after for appraisals, interviews, and lectures. He owns one turquoise mine, has worked at many mines around the world, and is a skilled lapidary. He developed and is curator of the Turquoise Museum in Albuquerque, New Mexico, where he lives.

Joe P. Lowry has been the president of Zach-Low since 1973; he founded and has been president of the Turquoise Museum since 1993. He has been involved in educating people about the turquoise and Indian jewelry industry at museums and national parks around the country and has worked with the Indian Arts and Crafts Board in Washington, D.C.

JENNIFER ROSE ROSSANO (aka Neurotic Mommy at neuroticmommy.com) is a comically worried working mother, wife, and holistic health coach with over 600k followers on social media who seek her expertise on plant-based nutrition and healthy living.

A collection of creative plant-based recipes that the entire family can enjoy making and eating—together!

Plant-Based Recipes
Life is crazy busy these days, and it’s tough to squeeze in a few minutes between soccer practice and dance class to teach kids about healthy eating, much less healthy cooking. “Neurotic Mommy” Jennifer Rose Rossano saves the day with easy, fun plant-based recipes that the whole family can enjoy preparing and eating together, like Carrots in a Blanket, Baked Mac and Cheese, Vegan Alfredo Bow Ties, The Coco-loco Shake, Almond Butter Banana Bread Blondies, and so much more!

The approximately 100 vegan recipes in this cookbook are divided into chapters designed for everyday life: Breakfast, Kid-Friendly Shakes, Lunch, Snacks, Dinner, Desserts, and Dips & Sauces. The ingredients are simple and easily found in local grocery stores, so it’s a breeze to throw together a last-minute meal. Plant-based eating has never been easier, or more fun.
Vibrant Plant-Forward Recipes from the Food Gays

Today’s food is about much more than nutrition—it’s about presentation. The Food Gays, Adrian and Jeremy, have found growing popularity on social media by sharing not only wholesome, delicious recipes, but also rich, colorful food styling and photography. Their food isn’t all vegetarian, but they appreciate the versatility and beauty of fresh produce and incorporate the brilliance of its color into all their dishes with garden-fresh herbs, crisp vegetables, and vivid fruits. This collection of 100 recipes inspire the reader to cherish the cooking process and treat mealtime as a moment to reflect and connect with the world around them.

ADRIAN HARRIS and JEREMY INGLETT are the two guys behind The Food Gays, a food, travel, and lifestyle blog that features original, bright, and colorful recipes you’ll want to eat with your eyes first. What began as a hobby has transformed into a career—with Jeremy completing a Baking and Pastry Arts diploma, and Adrian honing in on his passion for cooking, food styling, and photography. They have worked with brands such as Cuisinart, Whole Foods Market, and Happy Planet. They are freelance online contributors for Food & Wine and Martha Stewart Living and contributing editors for FeedFeed.

The Story of Knapp Ranch

The book follows Bud and Betsy Knapp, original owners of Architectural Digest and Bon Appétit, on their journey to methodically study their remote Colorado property, located at 9,000 feet in the Vail Valley. Through collaborative engagement with experts in land management and other key disciplines, they were able to create an inspirational model for integrated mountain living. Illustrated in breathtaking detail through photography, renderings, and storytelling, the book chronicles the transformation of a landscape that was once fatigued and long neglected into an ecologically rich environment. With site-specific attention to detail, the ranch is an example of land management and thoughtful stewardship put into practice. Topics covered include sustainable farming, ecology, stream restoration and conservation, water management, landscape architecture, and architecture.

Betsy and Bud Knapp, former original owners and publishers of Architectural Digest and Bon Appétit magazines, are innovators, philanthropists, and entrepreneurs. Writer and landscape architect Sarah Chase Shaw is the author of two books, New Gardens of the American West and Garden Legacy: The Residential Landscapes of Design Workshop. Todd Winslow Pierce is a photographer based in Vail, Colorado.

A vision of architectural design and land stewardship
“Mountain parks and reservations are useful not only as fountains of timber and irrigating rivers, but as fountains of life.” Muir’s loving descriptions and passionate advocacy of Yosemite, Yellowstone, and forest reservations of the West are enough inspire any reader to plan a National Parks adventure of their own, and to fan the preservationist flame in every nature-lover’s heart.

JOHN MUIR was a Scottish-born American naturalist, author, early advocate of preservation of wilderness in the United States, and founder of The Sierra Club. His letters, essays, and books of his adventures in nature have been read by millions.

A Mystery

This tale sees Sherlock Holmes and John Watson sleuthing around 1890s London streets bustling with holiday shoppers. Here and there, citizens collect donations for the poor. While Watson spies Santa Claus at the scene of every good deed, the visage of Claus eludes Sherlock. Hence the mystery: Is Santa real or not? When he discovers the jolly old gent with the white beard ho-ho-ho-ing behind his own Christmas tree, Sherlock surmises that “whatever remains, however improbable, must be the truth.” Or is it? This little holiday mystery will delight Sherlock fans of all ages.

JULIE PETERSEN (author) and SHERYL DICKERT (illustrator) are the creators of two other popular holiday gift books based on classic characters from literature: Mr. Darcy’s Night Before Christmas and Scrooge’s Night Before Christmas. Petersen and Dickert both live near Salt Lake City.

Eva Peron’s legacy has inspired many around the world. Better known as Evita, her story started in a small town in Argentina and continued as she used her position as First Lady to fight for women and the working class.

This book will teach little ones opposite couplings and their first English and Spanish words, while introducing them to the life of an extraordinary woman. Your child will learn that the opposite of atrás is enfrente with the help of Evita’s tango and that a sunny Buenos Aires is just as beautiful as a rainy one.

Let’s celebrate the night when the Three Wise Men following the star to Bethlehem arrived with treasured gifts for Baby Jesus. Melchior, Caspar, and Balthazar brought with them gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh. Gold represented Baby Jesus’ royal standing, frankincense his divine birth, and myrrh his mortality.

Inspired by their magical journey, this book introduces little ones to beautiful bright colors and their first English and Spanish words. Your child will travel with pink camels through the high desert, and follow the many estrellas amarillas to their destination.

Expand your world with Lil’ Libros board books, a new series of colorful and cultural books that inspire parents to read to their child at the earliest age. These delightful baby books use a simple format to introduce the littlest readers to first concepts such as numbers, colors, and body parts—all while tying in a prominent person or theme from Latino culture. Perfect for multilingual households, as well as for parents and siblings who want to learn Spanish alongside their little one.

There are many different types of engineers who design and build all sorts of things, from the tiny microcircuitry in your smartphone to large projects like dams and bridges that transform the very face of the planet. With original Renaissance man Leonardo da Vinci as inspiration, this exciting new volume in the Little Leonardo series introduces kids to many of the different kinds of engineering they can aspire to.

GREG PAPROCKI works full-time as an illustrator and book designer. He has illustrated several Curious George books, as well as the BabyLit alphabet books and The Big Book of Superheroes for Gibbs Smith. Residence: Lincoln, Nebraska.

Introduce kids to the “E” portion of the “STEAM” curriculum: engineering
Technology is present in nearly every aspect of our lives. From the invention of the wheel several thousand years ago to the increasing miniaturization of our computers, smartphones, and other electronic devices, we’re always looking for new ways technology can make our lives easier. With original Renaissance man Leonardo da Vinci as inspiration, this fascinating new volume in the Little Leonardo series introduces kids to the wonders of technology and the people who create it.

BOB COOPER is a veteran editor, who in a twenty-year career has worked on everything from comic books to art, architecture, and children’s titles. Residence: Bountiful, Utah.

Tech-savvy kids will love exploring the “T” portion of the “STEAM” curriculum: technology.

WE’RE ALL WORKS OF ART
Mark Sperring • Illustrations by Rose Blake

Fun illustrations and clever, engaging rhymes make We’re All Works of Art a great introduction for children to many different art styles, from prehistoric cave painting to surrealism and pop art. It also emphasizes that it’s perfectly normal to look different, and encourages acceptance and understanding no matter how people look. After all, we’re all works of art in our own special way. An illustrated appendix of the art styles featured in the book is included.

We are proud of our uniqueness, and deep down in our hearts we know we are spectacular, for we’re all works of art!

ROSE BLAKE has an MA in communication art from the Royal College of Art. She’s done illustration work for a variety of clients, including Disney, the Victoria & Albert Museum of Childhood, and Cartoon Network.
MILLIE’S MISSING YAWN
You Jung Byun

Where is Millie’s yawn? She’s lost it, and can’t go to sleep without it! Her dog hasn’t seen it, the Statue of Liberty hasn’t, neither have the moai heads on Easter Island, nor the penguins at the South Pole, and the rabbits on the moon certainly haven’t. Eventually Millie has to head back home, but as she lies in bed remembering all the wonderful friends she’s made, her yawn comes back all on its own!

YOU JUNG BYUN received a master’s degree in fine arts from the School of Visual Arts in New York. Her work has appeared in magazines including Nobrow, Communication Arts Magazine, and Creative Quarterly, and been recognized by various events and organizations, including Pick Me Up London, the Society of Illustrators, the Society of Illustration LA, and the Society of Children’s Book Writers and Illustrators (which awarded her both the Grand Prize in Portfolio Award and the Tomie DePaola Award). She lives and works in Brooklyn, New York.
