The Story Oracle
A Creative Writing Inspiration Deck - 78 Cards and Guidebook by Katherine Furman, illustrated by Laia Albaladejo

A creative twist on divination cards such as tarot and oracle, The Story Oracle offers a deck of 78 unique cards with bright, iconic illustrations and open-ended, multi-meaning readings designed to inspire storytelling.

Break writer's block and find inspiration at every turn of the card! Whether you are trying to find a story direction, deepen a character, dig out of a rut, or kick-start a new narrative, these cards will bring creative insight and let your inner storyteller shine through.

Just draw a card to determine the next twist in your story (maybe Follow That Car* or "Misunderstanding"), shape the perfect character arc (such as "Pride," "Guardian," then "Surprise Villain") and much more. A guidebook offers potential readings for each individual card (upright and reverse), as well as card layouts that set up a variety of story conditions.

AN INNOVATIVE DECK ROOTED IN STORYTELLING HISTORY: In sixth-century Italy, a popular parlor game would have players dealt cards depicting symbols and themes, from which the players would write poetic verses about one another. These cards would later also take on oracular meaning and over time evolve into the tarot as we know it. Then and now, cards can be powerful tools to reveal a living narrative or story direction.

SHAKE UP YOUR PROCESS: Tap into unconscious currents of storytelling. Confirm where you think your story (...)

Fox & Geese Game Set
by Brass Monkey and Galison

This classic strategy game by Brass Monkey is all about unfair advantages-you know, just like life. In fact, nothing's equal (on purpose). While one side plays as a singular fox, the other player has to command a flock of 15 probably-angry geese. The geese try to outnumber and surround the fox (so it can't move), while the fox attempts to jump over the geese to avoid capture (and eat them in the process). It's a fun, family game loosely based on animal homicide.

• Includes 16 painted wood game pieces (1 red 'fox' & 15 blue 'geese').
• Features a heavy-weight game board that makes the game as beautiful as it is fun to play. In other words, it's really great looking.
• Suitable for two players.
• The outer box measures 9.4 square by 2" deep (238mm x 238mm x 50mm).
• The game board measures 8.25" square by .5" deep (209mm x 238mm x 13mm)

Trivia should be fun—not feel like a homework assignment. That's why this Incredibly Pointless Trivia set by Brass Monkey is filled with some of the most pointless knowledge we could find... and even better, you'll choose your questions from a bunch of misleading categories. For example: 'Poison Control.' Those are questions about either Bret Michaels or arsenic, by the way.

• Includes 200 unique trivia questions to test your random knowledge (to say the least).
• Each question is grouped in an entertainingly-misleading category to keep everyone guessing-literally.
• Comes with an instruction sheet that explains 3 different ways to play (depending on how smart you think you are).
• Each of our trivia collections contains entirely different questions (and categories). Collect them all to build the world’s most useless trivia library.
• Suitable for 2-8+ people. Go crazy.

Roarsome! 6 Copy CDU
by Ridley's Games

It's time for an adventure with Roarsome! from Ridley's Games. In this easy-to-learn card game, your aim is to create as many three-in-a-row matches as possible to collect Roarsome points. The first player to collect 10 Roarsome points wins! The person who last saw a dinosaur (whether a fossil, cartoon, or walking down the street) goes first. Players take turns drawing cards and playing them onto the shared grid to create columns or rows of three matching cards. Every time there is a match, the double-sided cards get flipped over to create new chances. Oh, and watch out for the dino poop!

Perfect for friends, families, and dinosaur fanatics, it's suitable for ages 6+, 2-6 players, has an average 15-minute gameplay, and includes English/French/Italian/German/Spanish instructions.

The novelty dinosaur egg-shaped case is made using corn starch, and the content is printed with soy inks on FSC paper.

How to Play:
In this easy-to-learn card game, your aim is to create as many three-in-a-row matches as possible to collect Roarsome points. The first player to collect 10 Roarsome points wins! Shuffle the deck, lay out 9 cards in a 3 x 3 grid, then place the rest of the deck on the table - the cards are double-sided, so it doesn't matter which way up they face. Remember, the grid must stay in a 3 x 3 pattern throughout the game. The person who last saw a (...)

An Escape Room Game

While we’re sure schoolchildren around the world would prefer it this way, we simply cannot allow it. You must rescue the barred Bard before it’s too late!

Step back in time and immerse yourselves in the world of Elizabethan England. You and your fellow agents must work together to restore the reputation of William Shakespeare who has been accused of-gasp!-larceny and plagiarism! Use your combined powers of logic, wit, and perseverance to solve the puzzles and prove his innocence. If you fail, history will be rewritten. But succeed, and the true timeline will be restored!

Perfect for friends, families, puzzle solvers, and Escape Room fanatics, it's suitable for ages 12+, two or more players, and has an average 60-minute gameplay. Plus, unlike most escape puzzle games, Timescape: Save Shakespeare is entirely reusable and re-giftable as the content is not damaged during play . . . as long as you use a pencil!

Wacronyms is the quick-thinking party game that will make everyone ROFL! Have you ever seen an acronym and thought WTF does that stand for? Well, now it's your turn to decide!

Compete FTW by creating the wildest and wittiest acronyms, abbreviations, and initialisms. Players might reveal TMI as they fill in the blanks of familiar situations, wacky concepts, and heartfelt (or not!) emotions. Does it matter if the meanings make sense? IOO that's up to you! As far as we're concerned, if everyone's LOL-ing, it's NBD.

Grab your friends-this game is definitely NSFW-draw Topic and Letter cards and get creative! The tricky bit? You have to use all the letters to make your Wacronym, but the good news is you choose the order. For example:

| Topic: A government agency or job that should exist. |
| Letters: BTC |
| Wacronyms: The Candy Bringer; Ban Corporate Taxes; Trash Bin Customizer; Creepy Boss Trust; Top Cake Bakers; Because They Can |

When everyone has given their answers, the judge decides who played a GG and the first player to win five rounds is crowned the champion. Just when you think you’re getting the hang of it, out comes a Special Round card to mix up the rules! And you can use the blank cards to CYO, too.

Perfect for parties with friends, Wacronyms is suitable for adults only, is best with 3-12 people, and can be played for as long as you (…)

Hello. I'm an illustrator & creative director. After living in New York City and working for 4 years as a Design Director on Ladies' Home Journal Magazine, I left to pursue my dream of becoming an illustrator. Over the next 10 years, my illustrations appeared in The New York Times, The Chicago Tribune, the Washington Post, GQ, Shoebox Greetings, Redbook, Cosmopolitan, Bride's, and numerous other publications. Eventually, I was attracted back into magazine design and became Design Director for Shape Magazine, and then Creative Director for Fit Pregnancy and Natural Health Magazines. I love publication design, but really missed illustrating. So now I'm at it again, with a new style, and loving it. This is where I want to be. I love art journaling and I'm working on a couple of ideas for children's books, too.

Chris grew up somewhere between the canals of southwest France, the Swiss mountains, England's Constable country Essex and Margate's amusement arcades. The youngest of four children (the little brother role he still embraces in adulthood) Chris spent the majority of his education drawing on his friends' schoolbooks and was brought up on a diet of Tom & Jerry cartoons, Asterix comics, Swiss chocolates and French sunshine.

Chris' irreverent sense of humour was born from years as both a mild mannered doodler and angry burger flipper. Taking inspiration as much from Henri Matisse & Claude Monet as he does The Muppets as well as odd bits of packaging collected from supermarkets he visits on his many travels, Chris' work has been described as charming and visually striking with a sharp graphic style. His illustrations are populated with rambunctious characters that are a cleverly crafted mix of an uncomplicated line style, wonky perspectives and conspicuous colour choices.

Currently Chris lives in Bristol, England, where you can find him lifting weights, dunking biscuits, baking bread or restoring unloved furniture when not busy drawing.
