I've lived in nine towns in the past six years. I know my mom feels bad about it, but I don't mind. Who wants friends anyway? All I've ever needed are my books. I've lived a thousand lives, had adventures I couldn't even begin to imagine. To me, the places I discovered between the pages of a book are as real as the world I live in.

When I walk into my favorite bookstore, the last thing I expect is to walk out onto the pages of the kingdom of Mithres... or that the book boyfriend I've loved more than life, Kane the Traveler, really exists. And he has no clue the fate that awaits him in book five...

Now that I know the truth, I have a chance to save Kane. But if I change the story, will I ever find my way home?

Emily McKay is life-long fan of books, pop-culture and anything geeky. She has a black belt in Tae Kwon Do and baking cookies. She lives in central Texas with her husband, kids, two mildly-psychotic dogs, two very nervous cats, and nineteen chickens. When she's not baking or reading, she writes books full of heart and snark.
They survived a plane crash.
They survived life on a deserted island.
They survived being hunted.
Now they must survive the truth - they are not who they think they are.
One minute they're in Poland, subjected to gruesome tests they keep failing.
No friends to support them. No family to claim them. No hope of ever living a normal life again.
Then suddenly, they're trapped on an abandoned freighter in the middle of the ocean and forced to fight for survival. No food. No drinkable water. No way to get home. And strange memories of another life they don't understand.
But how can they be living two separate lives, trapped in two separate places, at the same time? They'll have to find the connection and uncover secrets that someone went to great lengths to keep hidden. . . if they're going to survive long enough to find out who is behind it all.
